DESCRIPTION

Rock extracted in Italy sedimentary and calcareous. Coming from the same family as travertine, it maintains the same technical characteristics such as porosity and compactness, but it presents itself with irregular streaks that cross the slabs horizontally of a few shades lighter than those of classic travertine. The colors that stand out in this case are therefore beige tending towards white, hazelnut and dark gray that appears in veins of various sizes. This natural stone, considered eternal since ancient times due to its resistance and use in public works in Rome and throughout our peninsula, is excellent for use in modern and ancient building projects, to which you want to guarantee a touch of revisited classicism.

Applications: claddings, floor tiles, kitchen and bathroom vanity tops

Finishing: Bushhammered, Flamed, Honed, Polished, Sandblasted, Waterjet

SCS: Stone Care System highly recommended for a longer duration.
